

Il Vaticano/ Roma

Tuesday November 25th 2008

“Mangiar bene e cosa sacra” – “to eat well is a sacred thing”

Once again, La Cucina takes a spiritual venture to Il Vaticano. Join us on our culinary journey as we pay homage to the unique state within the heart of Rome. We will spend an evening savoring sumptuous dishes preserved in hundreds of years of papal tradition.

From the sanctity of the Vatican to the history of the Eternal City, discover the flavors of Italy, where taste merges with beauty to delight the palate.

Come enjoy an evening of sacred a capella choral music from the late Renaissance. The ensemble, under the direction of counter-tenor Daniel Cabena and tenor Brandon Leis, will perform works by Byrd, Palestrina, Des Prez, and others from this, “the golden age of choral singing”. The intimate setting will allow for the music and food to enliven all of your senses.

A perfect way to begin celebrating the holiday season!
